2. Key Concepts

The Ancient Greek civilisation lasted between 2200BC-146BC, when they were conquered by the Romans. Ancient Greece was separated into five key time periods.

Ancient Greece was not one single nation, but a group of hundreds of city-states. Often at war with each other, they developed different forms of government with their own laws. The Athenians invented democracy, a system that allows citizens to vote on important matters. However, women, children and slaves were not allowed to vote.

The Greeks believed that gods and goddesses watched over them, living above Mount Olympus in a palace in the clouds. These gods were a bit like humans, but they were immortal and much more powerful. They felt human emotions, like love, anger and jealousy and people believed that gods protected them from harm. The Greeks worshipped them by building temples, praying and making sacrifices to them.

Alexander the Great was the king of Macedonia, or Ancient Greece. He is considered one of the greatest military commanders in history. He conquered much of Asia and Europe.

Aristotle. Plato and Socrates were renowned Greek philosophers; people who make observations and judgements about human nature. They asked a lot of difficult - seemingly unanswerable - questions like "what is love?".
